Gala Benefits JobTrain

OCTOBER 3 – Some of Silicon Valley's most esteemed innovators, executives and philanthropists will gather for JobTrain's first ever Magic by Moonlight gala at the Four Seasons Hotel, East Palo Alto, on Saturday, October 3rd from 7:30 to midnight. This black tie event will honor JobTrain and celebrate the organization's impact helping Bay Area residents transform their lives. Over four decades, JobTrain (formerly OICW) has provided free job training and placement services to 135,000 individuals in desperate need.

Sukhinder Singh Cassidy, heralded by Fortune Magazine as one of "The 50 most powerful women in the world" and a current JobTrain board member, organized the gala and will co-host along with husband Simon Cassidy and nine other notable Silicon Valley couples.

More than 300 guests have confirmed their attendance in what will surely be one of the most spectacular evenings of 2009. Cover band Pride and Joy will perform, and guests will enjoy wine tasting, exquisite hors d'oeuvres and delectable desserts – generously donated by Piacere.

To learn more about the gala and the other co-hosts, or to purchase tickets, please visit www.magicbymoonlight.org

JobTrain, established in 1965 as OICW – Opportunities Industrialization Center West – is a 501(c)(3) non-profit, educational and training institution, accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. JobTrain also provides career counseling, job placement services and specialized programs for at-risk youth. JobTrain is committed to eradicating the consequences of unemployment and poverty, such as homelessness, substance abuse, low education levels and crime – all by empowering the individual through education and sustainable employment. JobTrain places a high premium on recognizing and developing the potential in every single client.
